

English Reflection

Speaking English is the school's policy and also the policy used in my classroom. The students know that they must be interacting in English with their teammates and I in all classroom situations. My English reflection is given to the students who have been speaking French despite my numerous warnings. The students were warned on the very first day that consequences would be imposed to those who would use French in my classroom.

The reflection must be at least 100 word long explaining why English should always be used in the classroom and what solutions or means of his own will he put in place in order not to use French in the classroom.

A longer reflection will be handed out for a second or third offense.
